The Kerama Islands are a group of 22 islets located about 30 km west off Okinawa-hontô Island. Weevil fauna of the islands is little known. Presently only one species, Nothomylocerus pini KOJIMA et MORIMOTO, 2006, is known from one of the islands, Tokashiki-jima Is. on record (MORIMOTO et al., 2006).

Based on the recent short survey conducted on the inhabited islands: Tokashiki-, Zamami- and Aka-jima Islands, following weevils are newly recorded from the Keramas except N. pini, which is newly recorded from Zamami- and Aka-jima Islands.

All the specimens were collected by the author and will be preserved in the Laboratory of Entomology, Tokyo University of Agriculture.

The author thanks Dr. K. MORIMOTO for his review of the manuscript. This study is supported in part by KAKENHI (24510333).
